Describe the remuneration policy

The principles and bases of the Directors' remuneration are set forth in sections 3 to 5 of Article 22 of the Company's Bylaws, as follows:

"22.3. The office of Director is remunerated. The remuneration of Directors consists of an annual fixed fee for attending each meeting of the Board of Directors and its Committees. The compensation to be paid by the Company to its Directors collectively shall not exceed the maximum amount established for that purpose by the General Shareholders' Meeting [...].

22.5. Regardless of the compensation provided for in the preceding paragraphs derived from membership of the Board of Directors, the Directors with other executive or advisory duties in the Company, whatever the nature of their relationship with it, shall be entitled to remuneration that has been agreed for performing such duties [...]."

Remuneration structure:

- Fixed amount: Directors shall be entitled to receive a fixed amount in accordance with the positions they occupy on the Board of Directors and its Committees.

- Per diems: Directors shall be entitled to receive certain amounts as per diems for meetings of both the Board of Directors and the Executive Committee and the consultative or oversight committees (Audit Committee and Appointments and Remuneration Committee).

Changes: There have been no significant changes to the structure of remuneration policy.

Criteria: Article 28 of the Rules and Regulations of the Board of Directors establishes that the Board shall endeavour to ensure that remuneration to Directors is in line with market requirements and, in the event, and where deemed appropriate, that part of said remuneration be linked to the Company's returns. Furthermore, in relation to External Directors, Article 29 of the aforementioned Rules and Regulations states that the Board of Directors and the Appointments and Remuneration Committee shall adopt any measures in their powers to ensure that remuneration to External Directors is in line with certain guidelines.

Relative significance of the variable items of remuneration with respect to the fixed items: Only the CEO receives variable remuneration, as explained in section A4.

Describe the fixed components of remuneration

At its meeting of 28 June 2010, Prosegur' General Shareholders' Meeting agreed to establish, for the year 2010 and onwards, the maximum amount of annual fixed remuneration payable by the Company to its Directors for their Directorships, and the maximum amount of remuneration to Executive Directors, for their duties.

In accordance with that limit, Directors' remuneration for their work as Directors and membership of the Board's committees in 2015 is established as follows:

Describe the variable components of remuneration systems

Only the CEO receives variable remuneration, in the amount of 500,000 euros. Obtaining this variable remuneration is directly linked to the degree of achievement of value creation of the Group, in accordance with the goals established for the year. The amount of variable remuneration is established at the end of each year, on the basis of the percentage of fixed annual remuneration. These goals are chosen considering their significance for the Company, in its different business areas and regions, and the sustainable Creation of Value. The Appointments and Remuneration Committee approves the degree of achievement of value creation targets and the resulting variable remuneration.

Furthermore, the CEO takes part in the Long-Term Incentives Scheme known as Plan 2014, approved at the General Shareholders' Meeting of 29 May 2012. Plan 2014 is linked to the 2012-2014 strategic plan and it is gauged by the Group's value creation, which is calculated on the basis of the EBITA variation over the period analysed minus the variation in debt during that same period. Plan 2014 has an accrual period of three years with an option for another two years of extension (2016 inclusive). The next Long-Term Incentives Scheme scheduled for approval in the next General Shareholders' Meeting during the first half of 2015 shall be called Plan 2015-2017 and will also be linked to Value Creation, based on the same formula, with a permanence period of two additional years.
